I was born and raised on the Central Coast and am now raising my family here. I believe in protecting the character and natural beauty that make our region unique while planning its future responsibly. I am a data scientist and small business owner who serves on local boards and committees and am running to bring practical, accountable leadership to District 30.

As an orphan who experienced homelessness and financial insecurity growing up, I learned how fragile stability can be. That experience shaped my commitment to building lasting systems that create real stability — not short-term band-aids.

I have spent my career solving complex problems and turning ideas into real-world solutions. Growth must be coordinated with water, transportation, and energy planning so it is achievable and responsible.

Our children and teachers deserve stable, predictable school funding year after year. Our region and state depend on reliable, affordable, resilient energy. I support a long-term extension of Diablo Canyon to protect good-paying jobs and strengthen grid reliability.

I am honored to be endorsed by IBEW Local 1245 and supported by educators, small business owners, and community leaders.

I will show up every day to listen, collaborate, and deliver results for the Central Coast.

Dignity is the standard. Data is the method. Results are the goal.

I respectfully ask for your vote.
