

I am Lars Mapstead, and I am not for sale. I am taking zero donations because I refuse to be bought by the lobbyists and special interests that have rigged our system. Born in Carmel and raised in the canyons of Big Sur, I grew up in a goat barn with no electricity. I've lived the struggle, from waiting tables to building businesses, and I have called the Central Coast home for my entire life.

While families in our communities are being forced out by doubling electric bills and a rigged "Inflation Tax," D.C. politicians prioritize corporate handouts and endless regime-change wars. I will fight every bailout in Washington and focus our military on its core mission: defending our shores, not policing the world. I will stand as your shield against federal overreach and work to make the medical system work for the patients, not the large insurance companies, not Big Pharma, and not the politicians.

I'm going to Washington to break the "Two-Party Machine" by pushing for term limits and an immediate ban on congressional insider trading. If politicians are getting rich off their offices while you struggle to pay rent, the system is broken. I am a product of this coast, not a party-boss rubber stamp. If you feel unrepresented by the status quo, I am your voice. I answer only to the regular folks who built the 19th District. It's time for another option.
