

I grew up right here in the Pajaro Valley, and I went through PVUSD myself, from elementary school all the way to graduation. Someday, I hope to come back to this district as a teacher, in the same classrooms that shaped me.

By most measures, I am young to be running for this seat. But I believe this community needs people willing to step up now, not just when it's convenient or expected. This district is not an abstraction to me. It's where I was raised and where I want to give back.

I have no prior elected office, but I bring determination, accountability, and a commitment to showing up. That means attending board meetings, listening closely to families, teachers, and staff, and being present for the decisions that shape our schools. As a trustee for Area 4, I will prioritize budget transparency so families can see a clear line between spending and classroom outcomes.

I am running because PVUSD works best when the people deciding its future are the people who live here, send their kids here, and stay to see the results.

I would be honored to earn your vote and your trust.
